President’s Welcome

Dear Graduate and Professional Students,

Graduate Student Week was a great success! We would like to thank all of you for participating last week- we saw a lot of new faces at all of the events. Check out page 4 for some pictures and a run down of how it went. I’m excited to announce that the winner of the Graduate Student Week Intercollege Food Drive for Harvest Hope was the Arnold School of Public Health with the most donations! Congratulations and a big “thank you” to all of the departments that participated.

It’s that time of year again! GSA elections will take place online this week from April 15th to April 17th. See page 5 on how to submit your vote online and to meet the candidates.

Though the semester is almost at an end, the GSA is co-sponsoring two more events to get you thinking about life after the graduate degree! The first is a $tart $mart workshop today from 3:00 to 6:00 pm (page 8) and also the panel “Exploring Faculty Careers at Different Types of Institutions” on April 16th (page 9).

If you haven’t yet, please follow us on Facebook or Twitter for updates specifically for graduate students on campus. Good luck on those final papers and projects, everyone!

Sincerely,

Brittany Walter

4. Submit your vote!

Meet your candidates

Andrew Fogner, President
Andrew Fogner is a masters candidate in the Department of Epidemiology in the Arnold School of Public Health and has served as the University Affairs Liaison for GSA this past year. Andrew earned a B.S. in Chemistry and Spanish in 2014 from the University of South Carolina. His current research interests include global health and infectious disease. His focus is in international health disparities. He is currently a Graduate Assistant for the Department of Health and Environmental Control in the Department of Chronic Disease. He is a native of South Carolina and originally from the small town of Conway. Andrew has assisted the GSA with collaborative initiatives and communication between the GSA, the Undergraduate Student Government, and Student Life.

It would be an honor to represent the graduate student community as President of the Graduate Student Association. I look forward to honoring the voice of the students and continue to serve the graduate population of the University of South Carolina through the GSA. My current liaison position was partly created to insure graduate students were aware of the vast opportunities USC has to offer. In serving as your President, I pledge to increase resources to represent the diverse nature of the interests of graduate students. I plan to be actively involved in continuing with the current joint initiatives between the Student Government and the Graduate Student Association. Having been involved with the GSA throughout this process, I am well acquainted with the current goals of the association, and I look forward to ensuring that these effective policies are implemented in the coming year. I want to increase the proactivity of the GSA as an organization, and I pledge to work diligently with the graduate students and the administration. I am confident that I possess the necessary attributes to effectively act as an unyielding advocate on behalf of the graduate student community. Thank you.
Aubrey L. Sejuit, Vice President
Aubrey L. Sejuit is a doctoral candidate in the Counselor Education and Supervision Ph.D. program and has served as the Military Affairs Liaison for the GSA for the last two years. Aubrey earned her A.A. in Letters, Arts, and Sciences in 2004, a B.A. in Sociology and a B.A. in History in 2007, and an M.Ed. in Teaching and Curriculum in 2009—all from Penn State. She earned her M.S.W. in Social Work in 2012 from Syracuse University. She deployed to Baghdad, Iraq with the 203D MI BN as an Intelligence Analyst during Operation Iraqi Freedom. Aubrey is a licensed master social worker (LMSW) in NY and a credentialed alcohol and substance abuse counselor (CASAC). She is the Ritual Advisor for the Lambda Theta Chapter of Phi Mu, Doctoral Student at-Large of Chi Sigma Iota (counseling honor society), and Vice President of the Columbia Alumnae Panhellenic. Aubrey is on the Provost Advisory Committee on Women’s Issues, Disability Affairs Committee, Veteran Student Services Advisory Committee, and University Libraries Committee. She is a recipient of University of South Carolina’s Leadership Pin and Penn State’s Outstanding Young Alumni award. Aubrey’s research interests include military affairs, addictions, at-risk youth, educational attainment, and LGBTQI populations.

Representing the graduate student community as Vice President of the GSA is a privilege that I would be honored to undertake. I look forward to continuing to serve the students of the University of South Carolina through my involvement with the GSA. I was approached by the President of the GSA back in the fall of 2013 to be the first graduate student ever to represent the military population on the GSA in a newly appointed position as military affairs liaison due to my military background and interest in this special population. With permission of the executive officers, I was able to help create the position description for this position. I have worked to serve as a bridge between students and faculty regarding military issues. I plan to be actively involved with the incoming graduate student orientation as my role of Vice President. Like the executive officers before me, I have established many connections with the administration, student organizations, and overall student body. Because of my participation with helping plan and organize GSA events, I can continue to provide continuity to the office of Vice-President. I intend to enhance the graduate school experience and better serve our students. Thank you.

Mark VanDriel, Treasurer
Mark VanDriel is originally from Greeley Colorado, and received a Bachelor of Arts degree in History from the University of Northern Colorado in 2009. He came to the University of South Carolina in 2011 as a Ph.D. Student in History and was awarded a Presidential Doctoral Fellowship. His research examines the growth of consumer culture and a consumerism for newborn infants in the United States since World War II, and has broad interests in consumerism, family planning, and technology working in the family throughout recent history. He has served on the Graduate Finance Council, the Library Supervisory Council, and as president of the Graduate History Association student organization while a student at USC. For the last two years he has been the Graduate Assistant for the History Center. In his free time he enjoys racquetball, hiking, and cooking.

I have experience that prepares me for the critical elements of GSA Treasurer. I have managed the budget for the History Center for the last two years, and through this work have become familiar with the universities policies, policies and expectations regarding finance. As someone who has served as a member on the Graduate Finance Committee, I am familiar with its operations and ready for the responsibility of running those meetings. Through my time at USC I have successfully forged relationships with graduate students from a variety of programs, which better helps me appreciate the diverse needs of different graduate students. I believe that I am suitably qualified for this position, and I am eager to serve as an advocate for all of our graduate student body as a member of the Graduate Student Association.

Brittany Walter, Graduate Council Representative

Brittany Walter is a third year doctoral student and Presidential Fellow studying biological anthropology in the Department of Anthropology. Her research interests include bioarchaeology, paleodemography, Medieval England, and forensic anthropology. Brittany’s dissertation research focuses on evaluating the effects of urbanization on the mortality of medieval London using paleodemographic and biochemical approaches. She received her Bachelor of Arts from the University of Florida as a Florida Opportunity Scholar and her Master of Arts degree as a Deans Fellow from the University of Central Florida. Brittany has served as both the Graduate Council Representative and President of the GSA. While at the University of South Carolina, Brittany has also served as a member of the Graduate Finance Committee, several University committees, and has assisted with events and policies for graduate students at USC through the GSA. She was also chosen as a student spotlight in the No Limits campaign for USC.

The position of the Graduate Council Representative is to serve as the voice of the graduate student body to the administration. Being the single graduate student vote on the Graduate Council is a responsibility that I am excited to undertake for a second time. I will actively communicate and ensure that the administration appreciates the ideas of the student body and incorporates them into their current development of a more efficient graduate structure. Through my current position as President, I have established several connections with the administration, facilitating efficient communication for the needs and concerns of graduate students.

Since 2012, I have been an active voice in the restructuring of the GSA to create a more involved organization. This past year the GSA has developed several innovative plans and policies that will create a more proactive graduate student organization to increase involvement from all the graduate programs within the university. I am well acquainted with the present trajectory of the GSA and have been working with the current officers to develop an improved system. By staying involved as an Executive Officer, I will ensure that these new policies and ideas are successfully implemented in the coming year and into the future.
$TART $MART WORKSHOP

Get the knowledge, skills and resources you need to negotiate a fair salary and benefits in this competitive job market.

Start $mart is a professional development workshop designed by the American Association of University Women. You will learn how to negotiate fair compensation, including how to benchmark salary and benefits relative to other professionals with similar job positions and qualifications. This workshop also teaches personal budgeting and discusses how the gender-based wage gap affects everyone’s lives.

This event is being held on Equal Pay Day as part of Financial Literacy Week; graduate students from all departments are welcome to attend!

Exploring Faculty Careers at Different Types of Institutions

Learn about the many alternative options and expectations for faculty positions at other institutions of higher education.

What possibilities exist for obtaining a faculty position at other types of academic institutions? What are typical expectations of faculty at these different institutions with respect to teaching, service and research? Join us for a panel discussion with invited faculty from a 4-year regional campus, private liberal arts college, non-traditional and non-tenured university teaching settings. Hear about their career path choices and advice on seeking, applying, and interviewing for such faculty positions at these different types of academic institutions.

THURSDAY

FUNDING FOR YOUR ORGANIZATION

Attention Grad Student Clubs and Organizations!

The GSA has a fund for you to apply for money to aid you in putting on your events and activities. We are on an all-rolling process this year, so we just ask that you apply at least 4 weeks ahead of time to give the Finance Committee time to process your requests. If you ask for more than $1,000, we require that you schedule a time to come in for a dialogue. If you are charging for an event, any money you ask for is a loan which must be paid back. If an event you applied for in the past was rejected, we encourage you to apply again, taking into account the comments from the committee about why it was not awarded initially. We can only allocate for certain things. Please check the Treasurer’s Manual for more information. All funding forms and information on the funding process is now on the Student Government website!

RESEARCH AND FUNDING

- Thesis/dissertation defense deadlines, format check deadlines, graduation, and other important dates for Spring and Summer 2015 have been added to The Graduate School Calendar.

- Graduate students in public health schools or programs are invited to apply for a $1,000 scholarship from the Alzheimer’s Association. The Association is making up to five scholarships available to support projects toward a master’s thesis or doctoral dissertation on a topic related to cognitive health, cognitive decline, and/or Alzheimer’s disease and other dementia as a public health issue. Deadline: Monday, April 20 at 11:59 pm EDT. Click here to read the Full Announcement, visit the website, or email ALZ.scholarships@alz.org.

- National Italian American Foundation: Offers a variety of scholarships ranging from $2,000 to $12,000 to undergraduate and graduate students either of Italian heritage, or majoring or minoring in Italian language, culture, history, etc. Deadline: Thursday, 4/30.

- AH&LEF Scholarships: The American Hotel and Lodging Annual Scholarship Grants: Offers a variety of awards to undergraduate and graduate students in hotel/restaurant management, culinary arts, travel/tourism, and hotel administration majors. Some scholarships require nomination by the department. Deadline: Friday, 5/1.

- Maximize Your Summer - Courses in statistics, research design, data analysis, and social science methodology. The ICPSR Summer Program is internationally recognized as a preeminent learning environment for basic and advanced training in social science research methodologies and technologies. You can now register for all 2015 ICPSR Summer Program courses through our online Portal. There are 4 week courses as well as 3-5 day workshops. For more information, visit icpsr.umich.edu/sumprog, email sumprog@icpsr.umich.edu, or call (734) 763-7400.

- The Business Analytics Club is open to all students interested in business analytics, regardless of major or current skill level. The mission of the Business Analytics Club is to foster an interactive learning environment that will help its members develop excellent data-driven decision-making skills, and help USC students—regardless of their university major—fill this gap. Having the right data and analytics skills will open the doors for many more opportunities for University of South Carolina graduates. To apply for membership, please fill out this form. Leadership positions are also available. See website for more info.
CTE Workshop: Active Learning Techniques for Any Discipline
Facilitator: Michelle Hardee, TA Training Program Manager
Date/Time: Tuesday, April 14, 2015, 2:50 - 4:05 p.m.
Location: Center for Teaching Excellence, Thomas Cooper Library Room L511
Advance Registration required here.

Active learning is a student-centered approach in which pre-planned activities are used to engage the student as an active participant in their learning. Techniques such as think-pair-share, one-minute paper, and other such exercises have been shown to improve student learning and retention of material and can enhance the presentation format of a course. However, active learning strategies can be difficult for new instructors to implement because they require preparation and skills in guiding and moderating the learning activity.

CHDC Workshop: Suicide Prevention Gatekeeper Training
Facilitator: Jennifer Myers, Coordinator
Date/Time: Wednesday, April 15, 2015, 1:00 - 3:30 p.m.
Location: Russell House 203
Advance registration required here.

Suicide is the second leading cause of death among 18-24 year-olds. Most individuals who attempt suicide communicate signs of their intentions in the week prior to their attempt. On college campuses, many of these students are not seeking services at the University Counseling center. Instead, these warning signs of a suicidal person are often observed by peers, faculty, staff, and family members. Often, individuals are unaware of these warning signs or do not know how to respond.

International Student Services: Carolina Intercultural Training (CIT)
Facilitators: ISS Staff
Date/Time: Thursday, April 16, 2015, 5:30 - 7:30 p.m.
Location: Byrnes 704
Advance Registration required here.

Do you ever think about cultural differences? There are more than 1,400 international students at USC, and most of them are studying in an unfamiliar culture and a second language. Would you like to know more about how to better communicate with people that think and act differently than you do? USC International Student Services offers the Carolina Intercultural Training, to put you on a path to become a global citizen. Learn about Bennett’s Developmental Model of Intercultural Sensitivity, your personal style of communicating, and how to better recognize and resolve cultural miscommunications. The aim of CIT workshops is to equip students to provide an inclusive environment on campus and prepare students for international experiences of their own. If you have any questions, please contact iss@sc.edu.

The CTE will be hosting a “Teaching Careers at Non-R1 Academic Institutions” panel on Thursday, April 16th, 3-4:30 p.m. Panelists will discuss their experiences in finding academic teaching careers at non R1-institutions such as smaller 4-yr colleges, HBCUs, private liberal arts colleges, regional campuses, and non-tenure-track positions.
The Office of Undergraduate Research is seeking reviewers/judges for Discovery Day on Friday, April 24th in the Russell House, Columbia campus. Discovery Day is USC’s annual showcase of student activities. Students from all campuses present on any beyond-the-classroom experience including research, leadership experiences, global study, service, and internships. More information: www.sc.edu/our/discovery.shtml. If you would like to participate, please email Jay Pou at pouj@sc.edu

Do you like learning about other cultures? Do you like making friends? Do you like making friends and learning about another culture at the same time???

If so, then you should consider signing up for Buddies Beyond Borders! Buddies Beyond Borders is an intercultural program through International Student Services that matches American students with new international students at USC. We do our best to match you based on personal preferences and interests that you and your international buddy share. If you have participated in the program in the past, or if you are new and have a genuine interest in other cultures, please consider filling out our Fall 2015 Application. Read more about the program here. If you have any questions or concerns about this program, please feel free to contact Leigh Eleazer (eleazerl@mailbox.sc.edu) or Ashley Jaramillo (jaramia@mailbox.sc.edu).

Would you be interested in volunteering for the James E. Clyburn Health Disparities Lecture this year? It will be held on Monday, April 27th at the Downtown Hilton. Volunteers are needed at 8:30am and are asked to wear all black. In addition to having a chance to help presenters hang their posters between 9-9:30, you will get a chance to see some of the exciting work being done in South Carolina to address health disparities and attend the lecture. You will also be asked to help direct attendees to the lecture and hand out programs. The lecture begins at 10am. You have the option of staying for the lecture or you may leave at 10:30am. If interested, please contact Alyssa Robillard, PhD, CHES (arobilla@mailbox.sc.edu).
DIVERSITY EVENTS

- The next Ally Lunch will be held on April 15th at 12pm in Russell House 348, and we'll be discussing the focus on straight allies and how that focus can be problematic.
